Dear Franzscisco and Guilherme,

Here is the questionnaire. It is Creative Commons – attribution so we expect citations at the least.
Depending on the quality of the research we might be willing to co-author if you would appreciate it.

Best regards,

paul

Dear Mr. Kirschner,

We are brazilian researchers at University of São Paulo (USP), Brazil. First we'd like to congratulate you for your incredible work on the impact of technology on learning processes. We are so inspired by your work that we want to replicate the research you made in the United States, and posterior, in Europe, here, in Brazil.

We are looking for your help and assistance to atend the high standards that the best journals demand. We are ready to make our own questionnaire, but we would prefer to continue your research, following the same standards to compare the results, so we are like to ask if you can share with us the survey you used in your research. And if you can share any tips with us we apreciate it too.

Best regards,

Francisco Matelli
